

If I imitate Guilbert and make my face Serene, Gray, or Neutrally Amiable, will I have introduced new desires, or will I have restaged the old ones?

These 48 pictures were rated by 96 students in the introductory course at Brown University. The pictures marked with an asterisk (*) were taken during an imagined sequence which started with the girl dozing in a plane (56), continued as she was alerted by a noise (45), showed her in a state of gradually building fear as she realized the danger of a crash $(5,2,24,6,28)$, and ended as she screamed (51) just as the plane crashed.

The numbers in brackets are the faces used in the Abelson-Sermat experiment, and are numbered in (the same) order from 1 to 13 .

PU: Pleasant/Unpleasant; AR: Attention/Rejection; TS: Tension/Sleep
